

KWIK•SEW

Archive Pattern Information

KWIK•SEW has opened up its *entire collection of archived patterns to the public. KWIK•SEW's pattern collection dates back to the 1960s, providing 40 years' worth of fashion history. The out-of-print patterns will be made available as reproductions of the original, historical patterns. These patterns have been carefully preserved and archived over the years and are now found in the KWIK•SEW vault at the company's Minneapolis headquarters.

The out-of-print patterns are reproductions of historical patterns found in the KWIK•SEW vault. This has many advantages. The patterns are complete: they won't be torn, they contain the instruction sheet and all pieces are accounted for. However, the reproductions may not be perfect, as the original may have some blemishes or marks due to the fact that the pattern has been stored away for years.

The reproduction patterns are only available direct from KWIK•SEW. The patterns are kept in the KWIK•SEW vault at the company's headquarters and reproductions are made one at a time on a special order basis.

As fit and construction techniques have changed through the decades, a historical KWIK•SEW pattern may fit differently or use different construction techniques compared to modern patterns.

To order a reproduction pattern from the Vault, fill out the attached order form and mail or fax to KWIK•SEW. You may also phone KWIK•SEW at +1 612 521 7651 to order or if you have any questions.

*(A very small number of patterns may not be available for various reasons, i.e., the pattern may be missing from the archives, may be damaged, etc.)
